Roger first signed on with the BLM in Washington, DC during the bicentennial year, 1976. That job was with the Eastern States Office working from New York to Minnesota. Since then he has worked for the U.S. Forest Service & BLM in 13 states. Prior to coming to BLM's National Training Center, Roger was one of the first BLM Indian Lands Surveyors (BILS) serving Indian Country in six states across the upper Midwest. Representing the BILS, Roger has been a member of the CFedS Panel since its inception. He also served for a year as the CFedS Training Coordinator here at NTC.
